From the Rector's Desk

It's hard to believe that in only a few short weeks those large yellow rolling roadblocks -- also known as school buses -- will no longer be roaming the roads of New Kent County. School children will be rejoicing, parents will be wondering what to do with them, summer vacations will be starting, and places at "the rivah" will once again ring with the sound of happy voices.

Those happy voices are heard at St. Peter's from September through May, and occasionally during the summer at Vacation Bible School and Power Pals Camp, among others. Carol Nelms and her volunteers have done and are doing a marvelous work with our Church School children and youth. Time would not permit me to name all those who contribute to the ministry of Christian Education here, but I can assure you -- if you aren't familiar with what they're doing -- that they're doing it extremely well, and we owe them many thanks for their commitment, their dedication, and their hard work.

Unfortunately, adult Christian Education hasn't fared so well. David Swynford and Brett Marshall have been leading it, and they have tried a number of different approaches. There have been book studies, lectionary discussions, and video series. But judging by attendance figures, none of them have seemed to have been what our adults are wanting. So, given that what we've been trying this past year or two hasn't worked, it's time to try something else. And this "something else" will require your help.

But without your help, we don't know what that something is. In a previous parish they had "Adult Forum." Throughout the year, people came and spoke on different topics, some spiritual, some not so much so. Someone would come and speak on organ donation and transplantation one Sunday, the next would be finances and senior citizens, then for three weeks someone would speak on the Gospel of John. That's been tried here, I understand, without much success. It's rather disheartening to have someone come from Richmond, for example, and speak to only five people.

It may also be that the general consensus is that we don't need adult Christian Education at all -- that it's fine for children and youth, but you'd rather spend that hour drinking coffee and chatting with friends. So we're asking for your input. If there's something you'd like us to try in adult Christian Ed, or if you've decided that we really don't need to offer it, call me at 932.4846, Senior Warden David Swynford at 652.8839, Junior Warden Bill Lindsey at 757.345.9950, or your own personal Vestry person. Go to www.stpetersnewkent.org, our new website, and submit a contact form. E-mail me at stpeters.lector@gmail.com or the Wardens, David at dswynford@hotmail.com or Bill at lindsey8411@verizon.net. We need your help and your input to determine the future of adult Christian Education in St. Peter's.

Now let me follow up on last month's column on sex -- more specifically, "Sexual Abuse and Misconduct: Prevention and Response." As I said, almost everyone who does anything in the church is covered by this policy. The best way to find the requirements for your particular position is to go to www.thediocese.net, the Diocesan website, click the "Resources" tab, and then select "Sexual Misconduct Prevention." There's a link on that page to download the manual. Once you have that open, pages 16-18 list what is required by position. Everyone covered must read the manual -- the first twenty pages or so -- and then some tabs specific to your position. Once you've done that, please submit to the church office Tab B-3: "Certification Regarding Reading of Policy Manual." You'll be hearing more about this later in the summer. We've also recommended two parishioners to be certified as trainers, so that should help us fulfill the workshop requirements more easily.

I am your brother in Christ,

Paul †

Wardens' Corner

One of the items that has been on my heart and mind recently has been strengthening our parish and parish life. There's no doubt that a vital congregation is growing, how do we encourage that growth? Do we ask our neighbors to attend church or church functions with us? Would they enjoy the Annual Parish Picnic? Your invitation to a friend or neighbor could change their life and have a profound impact on our congregation. Bishop Jones recently gave a talk to diocesan clergy and others on this topic, so I'll borrow liberally from his notes. There are many hallmarks of a strong church, but five distinct keys to a growing church are:

1. Are we interested in lifelong spiritual growth? Adult formation, whether through Adult Education at church, small groups, Bible studies or personal readings are vital. Growing churches have members that are growing too. Are we helping others, maybe children, achieve spiritual growth? What do we project to our children and our fellow parishioners when regular church attendance isn't a priority? Does it seem like more of a chore or an opportunity to praise and worship God? What type of Christians will follow our legacy? Sometimes "spiritual growth" is sort of like "church growth." It's one of those things we think we ought to be in favor of, but when we look at our budget of time, talent, and treasure, how much of our resources are being committed to that growth? And if we support it, and it happens, will we be happy with the result? Or, does it matter if WE are happy as long as God is pleased?

2. Is prayer a central part of our Christian lives? If not, why not? How can we as a church better instill that communication link between ourselves and God? Active participation in groups that pray together is often the best solution.

3. Congregations are strengthened when we encourage making a personal commitment to Jesus Christ. Bishop Jones said, "We cannot assume that everyone has already made an adult commitment to Jesus as Savior and Lord. Every congregation, large and small, needs to provide avenues for commitment to Christ. We cannot assume that people in our pews know the story or that they know the Master. Evangelism is an integral part of mission. While I appreciate the formal process of confirmation, reception and reaffirmation, a congregation also needs an informal and pastoral way that a person can make a commitment to Jesus. And I cannot think of a more effective way of opening this subject than the avenue of sharing one's faith story in a small group of trusted friends or in a personal visit with one's pastor. For it is in the telling of one's story and in the listening to the stories of others, that our hearts are opened to make an even deeper commitment. When it is assumed that all of us are on a journey of faith, that all of us have room to grow, we can encourage our brothers and sisters along the way to take that first step of faith."

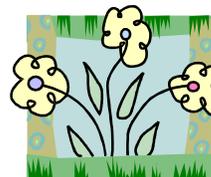

4. We strengthen our congregations when we teach people to give, focus on the blessing that year round stewardship of our time, talent and treasure provides.

5. Congregations are strengthened by providing multiple opportunities for service. "We strengthen our congregations when we tend to their roots – to the basics: to education, prayer,

Christian Education Update

As we wrap up another Church School year, I must thank a dedicated group of teachers for sharing their time and talents with our children: Karen Moore, Kim von Hitritz, Brian Gellings, Steve Miles, Bobby Nelms, Steve von Hitritz, and Bill Lindsey have volunteered their time for many, many years. I have always been able to count on them for wonderful attendance and enthusiasm for whatever new I have wanted to try. This is a great group and I hope that you will tell them "thank you" as well!

We will recognize our teachers and children on Youth Sunday which will be held at 11 am on June 6. Please come and share in our celebration! Our own Children's Choir will sing!

Easter Decorating Thanks. . .

Having so many of St. Peter's family members come out to help decorate the church for the holidays is greatly appreciated. Again, this Easter, St. Peter's was transformed into a lovely spring garden, thanks to Susan Cheyne taking charge of the east window, and Brett Marshall balancing atop the ladder to decorate the bull's-eye window, which is not an easy task.

Thanks also to Sally Smith, Barb McKinney, Janie Philbates, Cindi Burnett, Corinne Dorsey, Jon Ackley, and Cynthia and Paul Rowles for their decorating expertise.

Children's Choir News

We have had a great first year of Children's Choir. This fantastic group will give their final performance for this Church School year on Youth Sunday, June 6. Please mark on your calendars the following practice date: Sunday, June 6 at 10:30 am.

We have enjoyed working with such a wonderful group of choristers!

High Seas Expedition!

at Vacation Bible School

Mark your calendars now for High Seas Expedition, Monday, August 2 through Friday, August 6, from 9 am-12 noon!

The planning for VBS is well underway. We need teachers and staff for crafts, snack, mission, movies, preschool, and games. We also need crew leaders for the different age groups. Soon, we will have a table with registration forms in the foyer of the Parish House.

All children from ages three through rising fifth graders are welcome to participate. We will be asking for donations from the congregation for snacks. Be on the look out for a snack sign-up board in the Parish House. If you have any questions, please contact Kristin Swynford (557-3533) or Jennifer Ezzell (932-4029). We appreciate all of your donations and hard work for this important mission for our children and community!

Clopton Memorial Scholarship Awards

Two New Kent High School seniors were awarded one year scholarships of $1,000 each by St. Peter's Parish Church at a reception May 16. The funds for these scholarships come from the Louise Miller Clopton and William Boyd Clopton Memorial Scholarship fund. Awards are made to students who demonstrate strong moral character, religious involvement, community service, motivation, and academic success.

Recipients for 2010 are Kendall Bunting, who will major in Mass Communications at Virginia Wesleyan College and Austin Smith, who will study Sports Medicine at Liberty University.

These students were chosen by a committee made up of Bill O'Keefe, the Very Rev'd S. Paul Rowles, Sally Smith, Steve Peterson, Janie Philbates, and Doug Beagle. According to the committee, each recipient demonstrated maturity, strong moral values, and a commitment to their community, while being active in New Kent High School activities. They reflect well on their families and fully meet the selection criteria of the scholarship fund.

9th Annual Sets Records!

We had a fabulous day for our 9th Annual St. Peter's Golf Tournament! Thanks to the generosity of all of you and our church community, we raised over $11,000 to support our Youth Mission trip to Daytona Beach and other outreach projects of St. Peter's! The 9th Annual Golf Committee wishes to thank all of our hole sponsors, prize donors, main sponsors, dessert makers, golfers, and volunteers who made the tournament a BIG SUCCESS!

There was something quite interesting about this year's event...the team that registered last for the tournament (two days before the event), actually won the tournament with a score of 54, 18 under par! The winning team was Huffman Industrial Welding & Metal Fabrication (Phil Huffman, Chase Huffman, Chad Strayer, and John Lowery). And, the team that registered for the tournament first (two months in advance), actually finished in last place with a score of 71 (1 under par)! That team was Team Molina (Rod Molina, Paul Rowles, Stan Wells, and Billy Wells). The prize for the losing team was a bucket of golf balls donated by Zach Quimby so the team could practice up for next year's 10th Annual!

Watch for a more detailed write-up in the July/August issue of The Keys.

Golf Tournament Dinner Thanks

I want to thank everyone who helped to make the 9th Annual Golf Tournament dinner a success. Thank you: Adriane Marshall for coordinating the youth servers and thanks to all of the youth servers; Mary Hitchcock for helping with setup and making the baked beans; Kelly Gellings for helping with setup; Scott Goodman for picking up the chicken; Craig and Catherine Pierce for donating the potato salad; Bryan Pitts for donating the cole slaw; and Atlantic Growers for the flower centerpieces. Thank you to Leo and Julie Vaisvil, Barb McKinney, Cynthia Rowles, Joyce Molina, and Helen Poad for their help.

Also, thank you Shirley Meyer, Barb McKinney, Kim von Hitritz, Cynthia Rowles, Miriam Ackley, Sandra Gellings, Carol Nelms, Carolie Kay, Charlotte Woodall, Joyce Peterson, Mava Miles, Jennifer Ezzell, Traci Carlson, Patty Peterson, Emily Clay Evelyn, and Catherine Stanley for making desserts. There are some wonderful cooks at St. Peter's; everything was wonderful!

Everyone's help is what makes the Golf Tournament dinner special and I appreciate each and every effort.

Thank you,

~ Nancy Goodman, Dinner Coordinator

evangelism, giving and service." When people volunteer to serve, let's encourage them, even if "so and so has always done that before."

On my first visits to St. Peter's. I found the folks friendly and welcoming. But, do others see us as so close a group that new friendships can't -- or don't want to -- be formed? Bishop Jones said, "I would suggest that friendships are rarely formed at coffee hour. Rather, they are formed outside coffee hour through working and studying and playing together. What is needed are opportunities for new members to engage others in mission. Research has shown that a person who can identify at least six friends in a congregation will be highly unlikely to leave. But the person who cannot make friends is likely to leave. If we really want newcomers to be part of our worship, some concessions need to be made by those on the inside. Worship needs to be planned with the visitor in mind. Instructions are needed, even if they are annoying to the liturgical purist. We cannot project an attitude that visitors should know what we mean by BCP and HE II."

When Jesus called his disciples, he said that he would teach them to fish for people. To grow congregations, we need to develop eyes of a fisherman. We need to be near the water and have fishing equipment to fish for people. We need bait and to bait the hook. We won't catch fish if the worms stay in the can. We need to fish in the right waters, and we need to be patient. God will give the increase. "

One final note on the Trinity from Roman Catholic Commentator Karen Armstrong which I found interesting:

To say Jesus is God is a partial expression of the divine. God is unnamable. You can never know the essence of the divine. But God has adapted this ineffable transcendence to our limited understanding and has come to meet us. So Christians have experienced God as Father, a sort of brooding, sort of caring presence; as Spirit immanent within us; and as Word, which is spoken in Jesus and in creation. These are the external, like my gestures and my clothes and my words are me. But they don't exactly define what "me" is. We know God's external qualities, but we can never know his ousia or inner nature.

It's Cool Beverage Time!

Spring is here and summer is just around the corner. We're about to enter that time of year that requires plenty of cool beverages—in cans, glass bottles, and (the dreaded) plastic containers. Please keep up your recycling efforts, especially as our use of these containers increases.

Also, we at St. Peter's continue to recycle in an effort to make St. Peter's GREEN. Even Sunday leaflets are "recycle eligible." Whether on Altar Guild, Fellowship, Vacation Bible School, or just our normal summer "Lemonade Under the Tower" or other get-togethers, please remember to use the recycling containers in Richardson Hall and RECYCLE, REUSE, RENEW.
